

Why is there a difference in frame count between the generated motion clip and the original video segment?

A difference in frame count between the motion clip and the original video is normal. The AI may adjust the frame count to make the motion smoother and more natural. In most cases, the discrepancy is minor—for example, a 61-frame video might be increased to 64 frames.

Reallusion FAQ

<https://kb.reallusion.com/Product/53252/Why-is-there-a-difference-in-frame-count-between-the-generated-motion-clip-and-the-original-video-segment?>